

What happened at the Expert Group?

Wednesday 10th July 2019

The meeting was in The Clydesdale Bank in Glasgow.

The meeting was all about the new Scottish Social Security Agency. The group spoke to lots of people from the Scottish Government about different parts of the agency including making sure information is written in a way that people with learning disabilities can understand.

Members of the group are really keen to work with the Scottish Government to make sure that the new agency is as good as it can be and that some of the mistakes made by the Department for Work and Pensions just now are not made in the new system.
